XRM Global Application Facilities Expansion

By Jonathan Giencke, Global Marketing Manager - XRD, Bruker AXS LLC, Madison, WI, USA

Bruker AXS is proud to announce a significant expansion in application and service resources supporting our breakthrough X-ray Microscopy (XRM) solutions, including four laboratories equipped with the latest instruments. These facilities are staffed by a local team of dedicated application scientists with diverse scientific and industrial backgrounds. This expansion not only supports new customers who are determining the right solution for their needs, providing sample reports and equipment demonstrations, but also existing customers, providing training and application support.

In addition to the physical space, we have also made significant investments in our digital infrastructure, including live video Webex training and augmented reality service support.

XRM application labs are located in:

- Kontich, Belgium
- Madison, WI, USA
- Yokohama, Japan
- Beijing, China
